Donkey Ball Game At Hardisty A Success

HARDISTY. — Hardisty Senior ball club wound up their season of hard ball a battered and stiffened bunch. The next day most of them needed help or at least a few extra hours to get out of bed. A few of them are still not quite sure whether they were trampled, kicked or thrown overboard.

This time it was the donkeys and not the Lougheed club that had trounced them, for Hardisty came out on top of all three events, winning the ball game 2-1, the potato race 7-6 and producing two winners in the derby.

Kieth Rodin won the free ticket to the dance, first prize of the derby with Johnnie Walker winning second. Jimmie Pon was the best all-around cowboy although he bit the dust a dozen times.

Regardless of all his spills he scored both scores of the ball game.

Instruction Available For Dancers or Musicians

Here are some tips on ballroom dancing, passed along by an operator on one of Edmonton's leading dance schools:

"Dancing, like any other recreation, has rules to be observed, and styling plus perfection of movements so seldom seen on public dance floors. This is so easy to accomplish with a little practice under the guidance of an authorized instructor. Smoothness is essential, and it is of equal importance that each partner know the steps. To eliminate the erroneous impression that the lady should be a mind reader, the man must understand the art of leading. However it is also imperative that the lady be capable of responding to this lead. It is a mistaken belief that legitimate dancing can be merely "picked up" by observation at public dances."

A News Section About Alberta People,
Week Ending Sept. 23, 1950

Harvesting of Crops Nearing Completion Throughout Alta.

By RAYMOND ARGYLE

Alberta's 1950 grain crop, in some areas reported to be the best in history, and in others almost completely ruined through hail or drought, will be practically all cut by the end of the month.

Frost damage, reported in varying degrees from almost every section of the province, is expected to cut yields. Area around Thorhild and Boyle was especially subject to early fall frost.

Average wheat yields are expected to vary from eight to 23 bushels per acre, with coarse grains yielding from 17 to 45 bushels.

About 70 per cent of the wheat crop is now cut, and about 20 per cent of it is threshed. Over half of the oats crop has been cut, and 18 per cent of it has been threshed. About 75 per cent of the barley crop in the province is now in stooks, with about 20 per cent already threshed.

Alfalfa and brome are the only really good forage seed crops which will be harvested in Alberta. Frost damage to crops in the north area is not expected, to affect alfalfa yield or quality seriously.

The brome seed crop is good, but there will be a short crop of creeping red fescue, according to the provincial government's department of agriculture.

Very little crested wheat grass or timothy have been harvested for seed.

Sweet clover crop will be small, with heavy frost damage to this crop again reported in the north.

Supply of other clover seed will be limited as a result of winter killing and drought.

Satisfactory supplies of fodder and feed grain are reported to exist in most districts, and sufficient anticipated.

Dairy receipts have dropped from three to five per cent below those of the same period a year ago, but this is believed to be the result of culling of older cows while the price of beef is high.

According to reports, Alberta's best harvests are being threshed in the Killam district, east and west along that rail line, where a record yield is anticipated.

Around Calgary and Drumheller, averaged yields are anticipated.

When he arrived in the city this week, he met his sister for the first time since 1914.

Mr. Cole specializes in psychiatric treatment, and while in Canada is visiting various hospitals, taking in different methods of treatment.

He served in the British Army in World War I, saw action in the Dardanelles, and was with the Australian Army, in hospital service, during the late conflict.

Commenting on the recent election in Australia, in which the Liberal-Country party defeated Labor, Mr. Cole said 'that was what was needed, and was what the people wanted.'

Newspaper Launched In North Edmonton

Alberta's latest newspaper is the North Edmonton Star, which was launched last week by Community Publications to serve the fast-expanding north end of the capital city.

Publishers of the Star also publish this and several other Alberta weekly papers.

In its first issue the Star carried a complete coverage of community news and advertising, pictures and features, and a special front page article setting out its editorial policy.

Local editor of the new paper is Peter Holowack.

The Star has a complete coverage of the north end of Edmonton, and in addition has several hundred paid subscribers living in the rural district of Sturgeon, north of the city.

How to Spend $30 Million Is Alberta's Problem

What to do with $30,000,000? That's the problem of the Alberta government, whose boom-swollen treasury has marked a record surplus according to a report issued by the provincial auditor this week.

Altogether the province took in $99,553,102 and spent $69,724,965 during the fiscal year ending March 31, 1950.

That left a surplus of $29,838,135—by far the biggest of the annual surpluses which have been reported regularly since 1938.

Money could be plowed into the Alberta debt, or could be spent on public works or welfare measures. Or the vast sum could be put aside as 'money in the bank.'

Among the sorely needed projects which could be undertaken with the surplus would be a provincial housing project, a renewed road program, especially needed around Redwater. Other worthwhile expenditures could be made on the old age pensions, or on penal reform.

Here's how the provincial government's record financial year affected the average Albertan:

On a per capita basis, the 860,000 Albertans each paid $115.76 into the provincial treasury.

The government collected this sum in a variety of ways—$46 in the form of fees, nearly $16 as taxes, seven dollars as licences, $14 as profits on government operated trading activities such as liquor stores.

On the other hand, Albertans each received from the government $81.07.

Of this amount $24 was the per capita share for public welfare, and more than $12 was the per capita share for education. About $19—made up of $13 from capital account and $6 from income account—went to highway and bridge construction and maintenance. Debt charges cost the government $5 on behalf of each Albertan.

$30,000,000 Richer

The province of Alberta has reason to be happy about the provincial budget that nets the treasury a profit of over $29,000,000 in one year. Favorable economic conditions, and the accident of huge finds of oil within our boundaries made this possible. Premier Manning, who is also provincial treasurer, is indeed fortunate in holding that portfolio at a time such as this.

With completion of the pipeline to the lake-head within the next few weeks, greater production of oil will bring the treasury higher revenues from existing oil fields. A greater demand for this Alberta product will hurry the search for oil and with the finding of new deposits may yield the provincial treasury even higher revenues in the next fiscal year.

Progress Is Down, Not Up

In the recent rail strike one union leader is quoted as saying that the companies were unwilling to permit their workers to participate in the higher revenues which would flow from Canada's increased industrial prosperity.

That sort of thing sounds fine.

It is right that every Canadian should be better off as the nation as a whole develops.

But there is a major fallacy in the idea that constantly rising wages in one industry, no matter how large or how important, benefit the nation as a whole, or that any one industry has a prior right to tap our national wealth.

Canada and Canadians will enjoy greater prosperity in the world as our techniques and resources permit us to lower real prices, to produce and deliver goods and services for a constantly lower expenditure of manpower.

This applies to other industries just as surely as it applies to railroading. Union leaders who "protect" jobs by blocking progress in technical efficiency, and seeing to it that three men are paid to do the work of two, are a liability to labor and industry alike.

We would like to see Frank Hall come up with some constructive proposals to raise efficiency and thus enable the railroads to pay higher wages with shorter hours.

Note and Comment

Between 250,000 and 300,000 acres of Alberta crops have been damaged by hail this season, according to an estimate made by the Alberta Hail Insurance Board.

At Whitby, Ontario, a distillery worker explained to a court that he had made a still "just to see if I could do it myself." Yet he was fined $100. Apparently there are in Canada forms of private enterprise which are not free.

There isn't much excuse for sugar shortage in Canada. The Cubans have lots of it. Why not let them send it in, and let the hoarders stock up to their stomach's content!

Decision of the dairy farmers of Canada to finance and direct an advertising program for dairy products makes good sense. Sound advertising is essential to intelligent marketing.

The Lighter Side

The Mystery of Commerce

It seems there was a village jokester who strolled through the streets in a new suit of clothes, boasting, "This is a wonderful suit I'm wearing."

"What's so wonderful about it?" asked one man. "It looks like an ordinary piece of goods to me."

"Well, what I mean is this: the wool in it was grown in Australia."

"A lot of wool is grown in Australia. So what?"

"The cloth used was woven in England."

"Go on."

"The thread was made in Wales, the suit was

Editor's Wife In Flight

By T. W. PUE

One of the casualties of the rail strike was the annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers' Association, of which several of our newspapers are members. In fact, I hold more memberships in the association than any other publisher. Call it boasting, if you wish, but the CWNA is a fine organization, and we are proud of our association with weekly editors in ten provinces.

At the convention, scheduled to take place at St. Andrew's-By-the-Sea, in New Brunswick, representatives of the intimate community life of 500 towns and villages in Canada were to meet to discuss their mutual problems, regional and sectional problems with a National perspective. They would also hear some speeches, eat some dinners and maybe (I was hoping) catch some fish in the salt sea. But when the meeting was called off, I found myself with plane reservations in hand and no convention to go to.

Northwest to Chicago

It wasn't too difficult to convince Mrs. Pue who has worked steadily and nobly the year 'round that she should make a business-pleasure trip to Ontario and Quebec. So she boarded a North-West Airlines plane at Edmonton Airport at 3:45 a.m. and five hours later landed in Minneapolis. A short hop from there in the new, modern Stratocruiser landed her in Chicago in mid-afternoon, C.D.S.T.

Now, North-West has a good, fast service from Alaska to Minneapolis and Edmonton is the only scheduled stop in the nine-hour trip. But what a trip! The plane is big—but crowded with 50 passengers. There is no stewardess service, and when they stop at Edmonton Airport they have to wait until all passengers have eaten in the tiny airport restaurant. This takes a couple of hours, because there is room for only a dozen passengers at a time, in the restaurant.

This is North-West's "Coach" Service, which regularly sells for 4c per mile in the U.S.A., instead of the de luxe service at 5c per mile.

Capitol To Detroit

After a day in Chicago, our wife and mother spent 1½ hours flying to Detroit, via Capitol Airlines. She spent a day there and then from Windsor Airport, across the river, flew to Toronto, via TCA.

Trans-Canada Airlines operate de luxe services across Canada, and take her word for it—they're superior to services she used in the U.S.A.

After spending a week in Ontario, visiting in Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal, Mrs. Pue left via TCA and Sault Ste. Marie and Fort William on Tuesday afternoon, arriving in Winnipeg Tuesday night. She spent part of Wednesday there and arrived back at Edmonton Wednesday evening, in time for supper. If she had lunch on the plane before landing at Edmonton, she never told us. I quietly noted that her appetite had not lost anything by the trip, and she is just as beautiful as ever.

Summary of Trip

Time elapsed: 10½ days. Miles travelled: 4,500. Days lost from business or pleasure due to travel time: none.

Scriptural Meditations

We should pray in the family circle; and above all we must not neglect secret prayer; for this is the life of the soul. It is impossible for the soul to flourish while prayer is neglected. Family or public prayer alone is not sufficient. In solitude let the soul be laid open to the inspecting eye of God. Secret prayer is to be heard only by the prayer-hearing God. No curious ear is to receive the burden of such petitions. In secret prayer the soul is free from surrounding influences, free from excitement. Calmly, yet fervently, will it reach out after God.

Sweet and abiding will be the influence emanating from him who seeth in secret, whose ear is open to hear the prayer arising from the heart.

By calm, simple faith, the soul holds communion with God, and gathers to itself rays of divine light to strengthen and sustain it in the conflict with Satan. God is our tower of strength.

Next Round in a Lopsided Bout

Voice of the People

"VOX POPULI, VOX DEI"

'War Mongers'

Dear Sir,—As a mother I have remembered the sorrows of the last war, all the years my son was away, not for a moment have I forgotten him. We mothers are suffering most, just because nature demands to love her son more than anyone else in the world. Why is it that the last war took 20 years, now this is starting inside of five years?

Our sons should live and let others live. When a child is born, we deny ourselves of all pleasures just to give everything we have to raise and educate him, and war mongers who care only for profit and authority want him to die a common soldier.

Why look at the Korean problem when we have so much in Canada? Do we really care for Korean people, or is it that one hates to lose profit, while another wants to gain? Give people security and we do not need to worry about Communism. Common man asks only for food, shelter and clothing.

This reminds me of a film I once saw how we are helping the philippinos. I just ask, do we really care for these people? We are like a farmer who sympathizes with a little pig that was born in a straw pile and bringing it to a warm place said, "the poor little pig." He means by saying that, if I don't try and save you from cold weather I will lose $75 after six months. This is how the O'-Mighty Dollar rules and ruins humanity.

Prediction

Dear Sir,—It would do no good to follow Lum's advice and atom bomb Russia. I'm no Commie but they aren't officially at war with us and we can't legally attack them with a pea shooter. But to push the Reds back in Korea, I say, use an atom bomb with good old Canadian fission material. I predict either we do this or we'll have to sacrifice three Canadian divisions in this war.

Candy From Kids

Dear Sir,—We sure have an off-balanced sense of proportion, or else a screwy sense of humor. We raise the price of chocolate bars just so the millionaires don't have to sacrifice more than 5 per cent of their profits. Take it from the kids—give it to the financiers. And yet you have the unmitigated gall to call it a "sensible" budget.

Win for a Weekly

Folks who feel that a small town paper doesn't really stack up much against the big city press ought to have their heads examined. Just a few weeks back that sprightly weekly journal, the Olds Gazette, took up the subject of natural gas pipelines in no uncertain manner and not only set its readers straight on what is called the "heap big noise" about an all-Canadian route to the coast, but politely ticked off the Calgary Albertan for inconsistency upon an all-Canadian gas pipeline route when that paper had earlier been in favor of the big oil line which will run across the U.S. border to Superior, Wis.

Caught with its editorial trousers at half mast, The Albertan tried to out-argue the Olds Gazette. This was different, it explained, without saying just why. Gas wasn't oil. The main issue, it insisted—one which had no bearing on The Gazette's air-tight charge of inconsistency—was that Vancouver would be "at the tail-end of the pipeline" and would only get "what was left." This sounded like a noble gesture. The Albertan worrying about British Columbians on the coast... except that just two days before, The Albertan's sister paper, the Edmonton Bulletin, had carried an interview with officials of the Vancouver Board of Trade who said "so long as Canadian users are protected, there seems no reason why gas lines shouldn't go in any direction that is most economical to carry the gas."

While The Albertan was busy worrying about Vancouverites, or claiming to do so, the Vancouverites were telling Albertans "We want your gas and we want to get it by the cheapest possible route." A southern route through B.C., the state of Washington and back into B.C. was named as the most likely route to make gas delivery cheap and to lower the cost to coast users.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON:

Paul Defends Himself Before King of Caesarea

The scriptural background for our lesson for this week is taken from Paul's defense of himself made before King Agrippa, at Caesarea.

It might be well to point out that Paul, at this time, was not on trial. He had been brought into the presence of King Agrippa in order to satisfy the curiosity of the man who had heard so much of Paul, who was charged with causing so much trouble in the country among the Jews.

The Jews had requested that Paul be sent to Jerusalem for trial but Paul well knew how dangerous such a procedure would be for him. Taking advantage of the fact of his Roman citizenship, he appealed to Festus that he might be sent to Rome for trial. Festus, glad of the opportunity to be rid of such a strange prisoner, gave orders. When Agrippa arrives for a visit with Festus, he is curious to see a prisoner as smart as this one was in outwitting the Jews and so, he asks for Paul to be brought before him.

The defense of Paul before Agrippa is a wonderful discourse. He begins at the very beginning and traces his life to its present day. Very logically and graphically does he go into each phase, never excusing himself, never alibiing for what he had done. Having been brought up a Pharisee—one of the strictest sects of the orthodox Jews—he was an almost fanatical defender of the "faith" of his fathers. It was natural for him, when he found a few followers of this "Christ" boring from within and threatening to destroy this strict Jewish legalism and Phariseism which meant so much to him, to turn on them and do everything in his power to destroy them.

Not content with wreaking his vengeance on those believers in Jerusalem, he obtained permission from the high priest to go elsewhere to try to stamp out this new faith. It was while he was en route to Damascus, with a number of companions that he had his amazing vision, which changed his life completely. He was turned around from being a destroyer of the new faith into one of its most courageous defenders and propagators. It was one of the strongest proofs of the truth of gospel that one so utterly antagonistic to Christ should become the tireless evangelist of this same Christ.

Paul has been most responsible for the direct evangelism of the Gentiles. Most of us owe our own Christianity to Paul. The long chain of past evangelism back through the centuries leads to Paul. It was through the efforts of Paul, as outlined in our lesson for last week, that the gospel was lifted from its strict racial boundaries so that it could go to the far end of the earth. Without this, Christianity might have remained a small Jewish sect.

While not all of us are called with the dramatic experiences of Paul on the road to Damascus, we all have an obligation to take or send the gospel to every nation. This gospel of Jesus Christ is the one hope of our world today. If we share the faith of Paul, we must surely share his zeal for the souls of all mankind. Whatever we do in the name of the gospel of Jesus Christ is more important to the peace of the world than the work of the statesmen, diplomats or military

Letter to Louisa

Baby Sitter Is Newest
Problem of Alta. Family

DEAR LOUISA:—I am married and have three children, the oldest of whom is ten.

My husband has recently had a raise which will enable us to have more recreation than we have in the past.

Heretofore, we knew we could not afford a baby sitter at night, and we have been content to sit at home in the evenings, reading or listening to the radio. I am satisfied to keep on as we were doing and save this extra money but my husband is not and when I refuse to go, he steps out by himself.

Now I wonder whether I should leave the children and go out with my husband or stay with them and let him go alone.

"WORRIED"

Answer:

Get a good responsible person to leave with the children and go with your husband. All work and no play made Jack a dull boy and the worst part of it is that if he plays by himself very long Jack gets tired of it and may pick up another companion on some of his outings.

I certainly do not think that a woman should neglect her children and, in this day and time too many of them do, but a woman should be a wife as well as a mother. Her children may lose more in the long run if she does not make it a plan to like some of the things her husband enjoys than if she blindly, stays home all of the time, trying to do what she thinks is her duty.

Go to the movies or the ball-games with him and have other companionable couples drop in for an evening. It will do you both good and get you out of a narrow rut.

LOUISA

Dear Louisa:—You are always saying that it is better for a woman to stay in the home if she has small children but how if her husband does not make enough so the children can have dental care and things that they really need?

He works hard but my mother lives with us and we have lots of expense. I have been offered a part-time job for the mornings and my mother will be here with a girl I can get to come in each morning to do the heavy work.

Don't you think this would be better than worrying about bills?

"MOTHER"

Answer:

By all means take the job. Having your mother at home to see that the children are cared for, even if she is not able to do the work herself, will relieve you of any worry about them. After all, you will be at home in the afternoon.

I think you would be foolish not to take this opportunity of helping your husband over a rough place and also doing something for your children. LOUISA

20th Century FARM NEWS

Hail Has Always Menaced Farms Throughout Alberta

Hail storms occur in many parts of the world, and the loss in dollars and cents to agriculture each year is quite a substantial sum. The severe hail storm, like the tornado, is always small, but it represents such a concentration of fury, and the destruction it causes is so complete, that it is always dreaded.

Alberta is a province that is peculiarly susceptible to hail damage. Meteorologists of repute maintain that more hail storms occur here than in any other province or state throughout the world. It is difficult to explain why this should be.

Hail is formed in the turbulent region at the front of a thunder storm, according to Dr. W. J. Humphreys of the United States weather Bureau. The air currents in the van of such a storm are always in violent commotion upward and downward between relatively cold and warm regions of the atmosphere. As the moisture is carried upward it is congealed into the frozen particles known as hail. Hail may be swept upward in front of a storm several times before it finally drops to the earth. Each time it rises to the height it receives a fresh coating of ice. That is why large hail stones frequently show several alternate layers.

Some terrible hail storms have occurred at various times in the earth's history. At Dallas, Texas, in 1926, tons of ice fell on streets and buildings during 15 minutes, and in the business centre the stones attained the size of baseballs. The losses in the city and its vicinity were estimated at $2 million.

An unusually severe hail storm swept a path five miles wide across part of Kansas on June 4, 1927. Fields were left as bare as a highway. Trees were stripped of branches and leaves, and horses, cattle, hogs, sheep, rabbits, chickens and wild birds were killed. Hail stones piled into drifts eight to 15 feet deep and many of these drifts remained for three days.

One hail storm caused such widespread distress that it helped bring about a great social upheaval. Beginning in the centre of France, July 13, 1788, this storm crossed Belgium and finally died out in Holland. No less than 1,309 communes in France suffered, and the total losses were estimated at $5 million, an immense sum at that period. This disaster undoubtedly hastened the coming of the revolution.—Alta. Wheat Pool Budget.

Harvest Help

Eastern harvesters are now coming in. Frank Gordon, Searle Grain Co., lists orders and places men at Lloydminster. Orders at Vermilion should be left at the D.A. office or with Roy Jory, Searle Grain Co. agent.

Save the Feed

Haying is still going on but the hay is now scarce and nearly useless for stock feed. Straw will be scarce on farms where combines are used so every bit of feed should be gathered up whether good or poor if we are to have enough to get through the winter.

Haying Equipment

Many farmers are now using sweeps and stackers for putting up hay. Some farmers have field balers. These methods are cheaper and quicker than pitching with a fork. In fact the hay fork is the most expensive implement on the farm. The initial cost is small but the upkeep is terrific.

Vivien Leigh to Star In 'Streetcar Named Desire'

HOLLYWOOD (Special) — The passionate Broadway play, "A Street Car Named Desire," is coming to the screen, starring Vivien Leigh and Elia Kazan.

The cast will go on to New Orleans for several days of shooting, and the real trolly which inspired the title of the play, written by Tennessee Williams, will be used in the film sequence depicting the arrival of Vivian at her sister's home.

Shirley Temple recently made a trip to New York to see the Broadway version of "Peter Pan" and to decide whether she will go on tour with the famous Barrie play. We haven't heard what she has decided.

Because the Johnston office won't allow the use of the title, "Murder, Inc.," the Humphrey Bogart film is being called "The Enforcer." What's the difference —the story and plot is the same, involving wholesale slaughter.

Hollywood tailors won't love Clifton Webb so much after hearing that he declares, "Their clothes look like zoot suits—coats so long they fall to your knees and shoulders so padded you look like Superman. As for lapels, no gentleman would be without them.

Some Farmers In Too Big A Hurry To Harvest Crops

Don't be in too big a hurry to cut your crop, cautions A. M. Wilson, Alberta's Field Crops Commissioner. Consider the problems that frozen, immature grain may present in harvesting and storing.

Farmers whose crops have been injured by frost should give them every opportunity to ripen and dry before harvesting and threshing. Frozen grain is slow to dry in the stock. If the grain is not severely damaged it will fill much better standing than in the swath or stock. Even severely damaged crops will benefit by being allowed to stand because they will dry more quickly.

There is another good reason for allowing grain crops, whether frozen or not, to ripen thoroughly before cutting and to dry before combining or threshing.

Rail Strike Was Difficult Time For Publishers

The national railway strike last month presented many difficulties for newspaper publishers, particularly to Community Publications, with its string of country weeklies.

Individual mail subscriptions were not accepted by the post office, as only first class mail—sealed letters—were carried during the tie-up.

Although some delay was experienced in getting the papers out to different points, through the co-operation of Sunburst, Canadian and Greyhound lines, most papers were delivered on time.

More Power To You!

SAYS EVA CRUMMY

HOUSEWORK FOR HEALTH.—At the age of 75, there are 18% more women than men. And the married women live longer than the single! Al though there may be some who say, "Why care?" we know that there is an inherent desire on the part of most people to live a full life, in years as well as activity.

Does the Housewife Live Longer Because Her Lot Is Easier?

Someone suggested to a man who wanted a change from his daily routine, that he change places with his wife for a few days. He replied, "Oh, no, not that. I want less work, not more than I do here!" It would seem that even with the conveniences of modern living that the old maxim, "Woman's work is never done," still holds true.

How then do we account for the fact that the busy homemaker lives longer? Is it because she does not take her job too seriously? Because we CAN put off until tomorrow what we do not wish to do today... that is up to a point, whereas we wouldn't be nearly so able to tell the boss that we'll do that filing next week, and get away with it. And I wonder what would happen if we told a customer that we didn't feel like serving him today, and would he please come back tomorrow!

All joking to one side, the truth of the matter is that most homemakers DO take their homemaking seriously, and it is because they do, that they live longer. For it is this very "busy-ness" which increases their health, and adds to their span of life. As life goes on, the homemaker's routine doesn't change too much. It only increases or decreases in tempo. But the pattern remains the same. And this daily routine of things which needs to get done, and DO get done, keeps her needed, happy and contented.

The man or woman who goes out to work, on the other hand, is apt to become oppressed with fear as his time of retirement approaches. He may suffer from a feeling of futility as well as a fear of the adjustment which needs to take place, in his daily pattern of living.

It is recommended that we become attached to some absorbing hobby, at least 10 years before we retire, so that our interest in this activity will carry us through the adjustment period. I used to wonder at the number of extremely busy and prominent men who take up the artist's paint brush. For the beauty of line and color, as well as the relaxation and inspiration which accompanies the haunt of the painter in the great outdoors, makes it an ideal hobby. The other manual arts are perhaps less romantic, but give an equal amount of satisfaction. Whatever the hobby... the thing is to get at it while there is yet time. For it may be later than we think!

The secret of longevity seems to be to keep busy... moderately!

Many Present at Recent Farm Women's Meeting

Regular meeting of the Edmonton FWUA, Local No. 630, was held at the home of the president, Mrs. W. R. Duncan, 10230 134 street on the afternoon of September 7.

Mrs. Flewelling, vice-president, acted as chairman for the meeting.

Mrs. Dorland gave a report of the annual conference of Sub-Division 1 District 6, held at Gibbons, and also a report of the convention of Division 6 held at Vegreville.

Mrs. L. B. Nicholson then gave a brief outline of the growth of Community Welfare Services for the past five years, and introduced Mr. D. R. McNaughton, juvenile court officer for the Province of Alberta.

Mr. McNaughton gave an address on the subject of Boys' Camps, and in particular the Boysdale Camp which is located on the bank of the Sturgeon River about 20 miles from the city.

Two colored films were shown by Mr. F. Webber, illustrating the work done at the camp to date.

Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. L. S. Stetson, 9830 85 avenue, at 2 p.m., when Mr. Stan Ross will address the meeting, and all members are asked
